The Salerno Maritime Terminal of Salerno, also known as the Zaha Hadid Maritime Station, is one of the leading high-quality architectural projects built in Italy.

Located on the Manfredi pier of the commercial port, it is the main cruise hub of the city of Salerno, as well as one of the main ones in Campania and southern Italy.

The terminal acts, both functionally and visually, as a fluid transition between land and sea. In fact, the spectacular views of the Amalfi Coast, Gulf of Salerno and Cilento have significantly enhanced the visual experience and intimate relationship between the city and its waterfront.
